The GUIDE will direct the development of the excursion and the stops will be made within the chosen itinerary and as described in the publicity made by the company.

In this case, the modification of part of the route will not give rise to any compensation. In the event that the guide is forced to interrupt the route due to force majeure, a proportional compensation reduced by the cost of insurance (€10 per person) will be paid.

Adverse weather conditions (rain, fog, snow,...) may be a cause of cancellation, since they make it impossible or interfere in the realization of the routes, besides being in some cases a risk to the physical integrity of the participants. In this case of force majeure, the compensation of the amount paid will be total, including insurance costs.

Reservations made by mail or other forms (WhatsApp) will only be formalized upon receipt of confirmation from the company and subject to prepayment by bank transfer to the IBAN of the bank that we will provide at the time of pre-booking.

The 4x4 route company supports the project "Quaternary Geopark: Valleys of northern Granada" making available to our customers, in addition to classic routes, new itineraries specifically planned to know not only the geological diversity, but at the same time visit other points of paleontological, archaeological, naturalistic and scenic interest.

These routes, planned with precision and continuously updated, want to present a "friendly" and not too technical knowledge of the geological, historical diversity and the crossing of the ancient cultures that populated or passed through the so-called "Hoya de Guadix-Baza".

During the itineraries there are stops and short walks that are easy and suitable for everyone that allow you to better immerse yourself in the surroundings.

Also on some of the routes, if the opening hours allow it, we offer the opportunity to visit one or more points of public interest such as necropolis, Neolithic and Bronze Age settlements and interpretation centers.

Bronze Age and Neolithic settlements, and interpretation centers.

For the safety of the participants and in order not to ruin the trails, the routes are conditioned by weather and are not conditioned by the weather and cannot be done in bad weather conditions.

In the design of each route, we have paid special attention to include unique aspects of the park with stops at points of geological, paleontological and archaeological interest.

The program for each route is extensive, but we are sure to satisfy you.
